New Information From a Cover Lot (E - H Patterns)
Doug Turner (#2549)

Here's another selection of covers from the lot which was featured (A-D patterns) last month. Lots of new or corrected information to be seen here. Plus, some just plain interesting covers.

(Ed. -- Thanks go, also, to Diane Eastman (Doug's wife) for the scans used to prepare these pages.)

E9 - The catalog does not show this listing as verified (*). This verifies the information in the catalog.

F78 - This shows an additional office in Wheeling, West Virginia postmarked in Mc Mechen, West Virginia.

In Color

F219 - This shows an additional user of this perfin "Newark Varnish Works; 136 Chestnut St.; Newark, NJ. This may be a branch of the Flood & Conklin Manufacturing Company

In Color

G83 - This identifies the user as Minneapolis Gas Light Company; Minneapolis, Minn.

In Color

H55 - The catalog does not show this listing as verified (*). This verifies the information in the catalog. It also shows the correct spelling as Hagedorn instead of Hagedon.

H105 - This is sort of a mystery cover that probably could be solved with the use of an old San Francisco City Directory. The catalog lists the user of H-105 & H-107 & 107.5 as Hirsch, Lilienthal & Company; New York. This cover has H-105 perfin and the corner card lists the user as H. Liebes & Company; Furs, Cloaks and Suits. The name of the building on the cover is "Liebes Building; H. Liebes & Company. The address listed is 167-177 Post Street; San Francisco, CA. It was postmarked in 1916. It may be that since H-107 and H-107.5 were used between 1926 and 1946 in New York that one of the Company partners changed after 1916 from Liebes to Lilienthal which would mean that the listing for H-105 should be changed to H. Liebes & Company and H-107 and H-107-5 should remain as Hirsch, Lilienthal & Company.

H177 - The catalog lists the use from 1926-35. This is a use in 1946 and the user is different: "The F.H. Earthrowl Company; 47 Hillman Street; Springfield, MA"
